

PRESS RELEASE – FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

2018 BIC Scholarship Award Winners announced

Paris, 1st October 2018

The winners of the 2018 BIC Scholarship awards have been announced.

The scholarship program was launched in 2015 to help support the container industry's leaders of tomorrow and to encourage continued focus on safety, security, standardization and sustainability in the intermodal container industry. Eligibility extends to university and maritime academy students enrolled in a program related to container transportation. Candidates were judged on the basis of academic achievement as well as an essay related to container safety, security, standardization or sustainability. Six Awards (Three undergraduate and three graduates) were available in 2018.

Yi Ren is currently an undergraduate at Nanyang Technological University in Singapore. Having majored in Maritime Studies, his interest lies in shipping and the supply chain industry. He runs a small business which provides logistics services in his school. During his free time, he enjoys travelling and reading on current affairs.*

Alissa Ong holds a degree in Maritime Studies from Nanyang Technological University. As a student, she was interested in the latest issues concerning the shipping industry – such as environmental concerns and technological advancements. She is passionate about exploring new ideas and solutions ahead towards changes in the shipping industry, especially in areas of* container transportation. Alissa now works at PSA Singapore, the busiest transshipment hub in the world.

Pang Jin Zhuang is currently in a Final Year Student at Nanyang Technological University, majoring in Bachelor of Science in Maritime Studies. He intends to work as a line manager or similar role in the liner shipping segment upon graduation.*

The graduate winners for 2018 are
